Cindy - (C.A.T.)

You took up a whole page in my yearbook, but I don't think I can think of enough to write about to take a whole page. I'm not saying we haven't gone through alot together, because sense we're cousins, we've obviously known each all our lives. I could say all the same d' stuff like you're such a sweet person. you're a great friend, and good luck in the future, but all that is so boring. Oh well. I'll just tell you how much I miss you. It seems so wierd not being in the same school our senior year. I never dreamed you would move to Zanesfield and go to Ben Logan High School. Well, I really do miss you but it sounds like you've made alot of new friends. Especially Brian Roth. By the way, I still am looking forward to meeting this guy. He looks gorgeous in his Senior pictures. You know, You are one of my bestest friends. (Missy is too but I know you don't get along with her.) I'm sure we'll be best friends forever too 'cause that's just one of the advantages of being related. Boy am I glad Joy and Jim adopted you. I can't imagine life without you. It is wierd though how some people think we look a like. Personally, I see no resemblence. You're obviously much prettier than me. (I'm running out things to say. Can you tell.) Do you remember how we never got along in the middle school? I'm still not sure why, though. I think it had something to do with ~~Ian~~ Tina Dunkle. But I get along with her now too. Well this isn't quite a page but I'm going to quit. Keep coming to see me on Wedns. nights, and keep writting me. In other words, you better keep in touch no matter how far away from each other. we are. Ok sis?!

Love ya always,

Wendy

PS. Remember our trip to Bellefontain in the jeep? We got moored by those guys, and embarrassed ourselves when we went to Shawn's house.

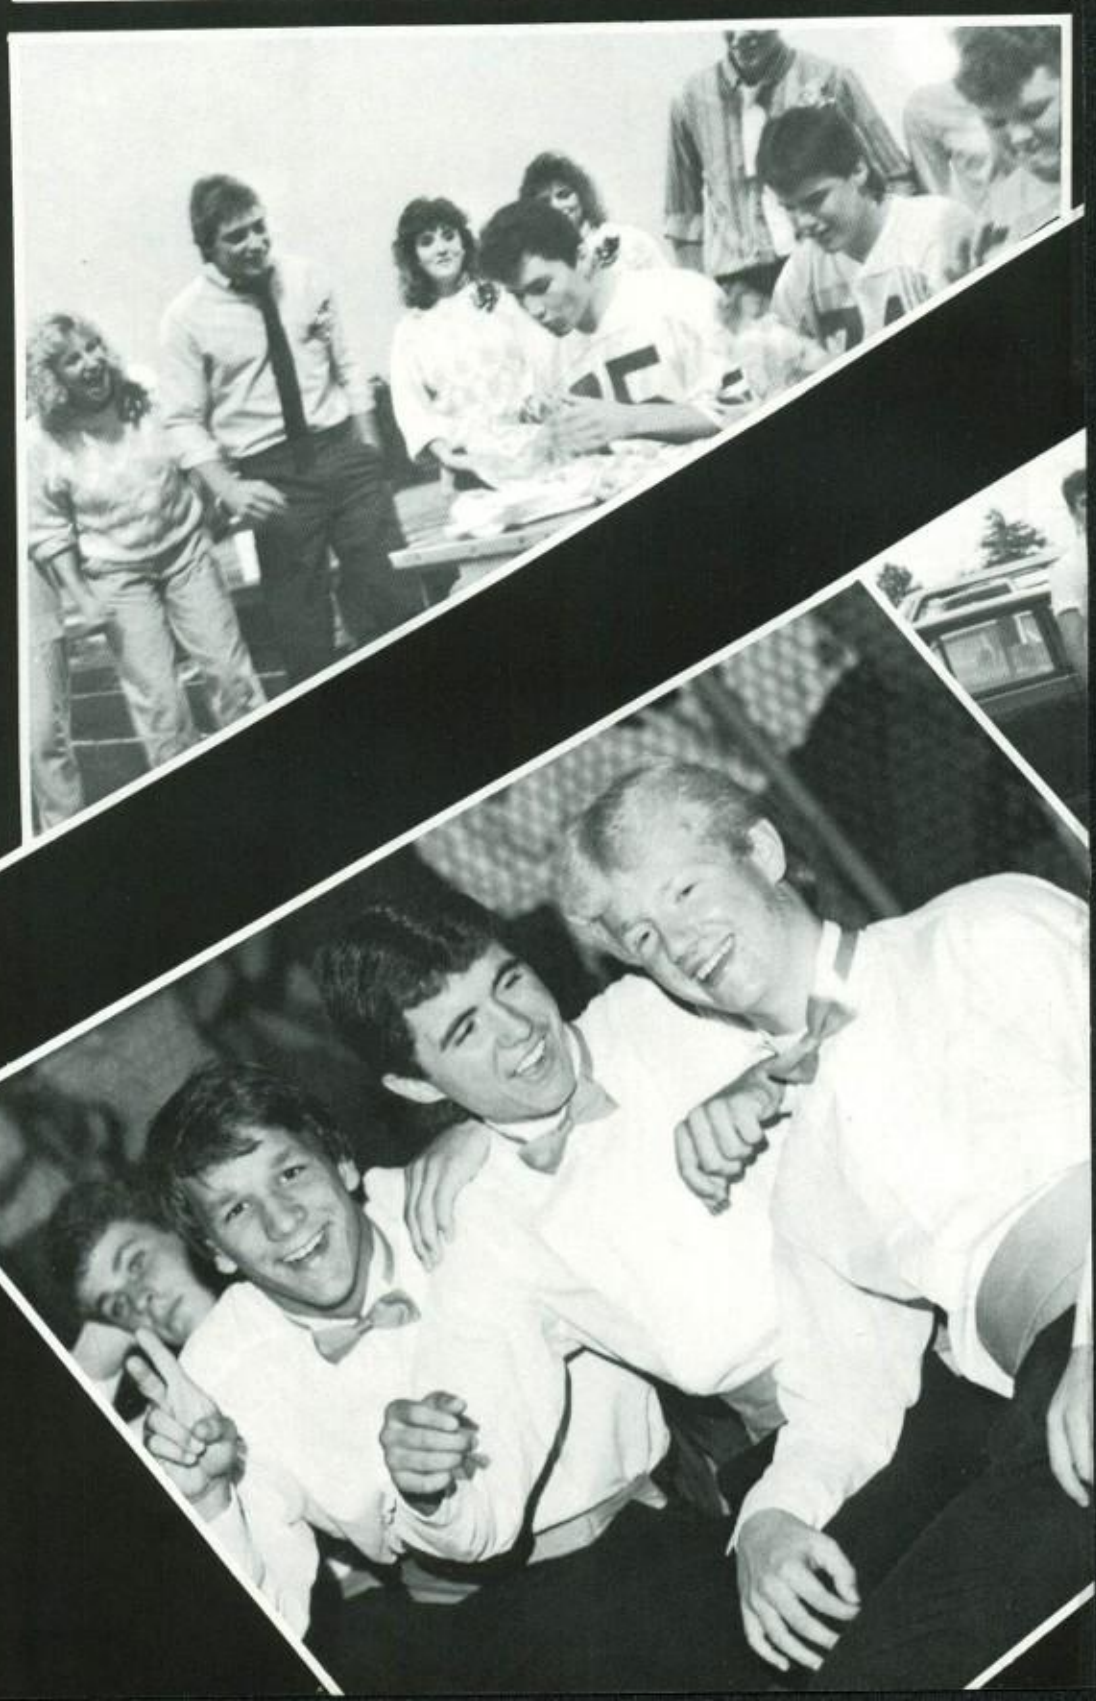
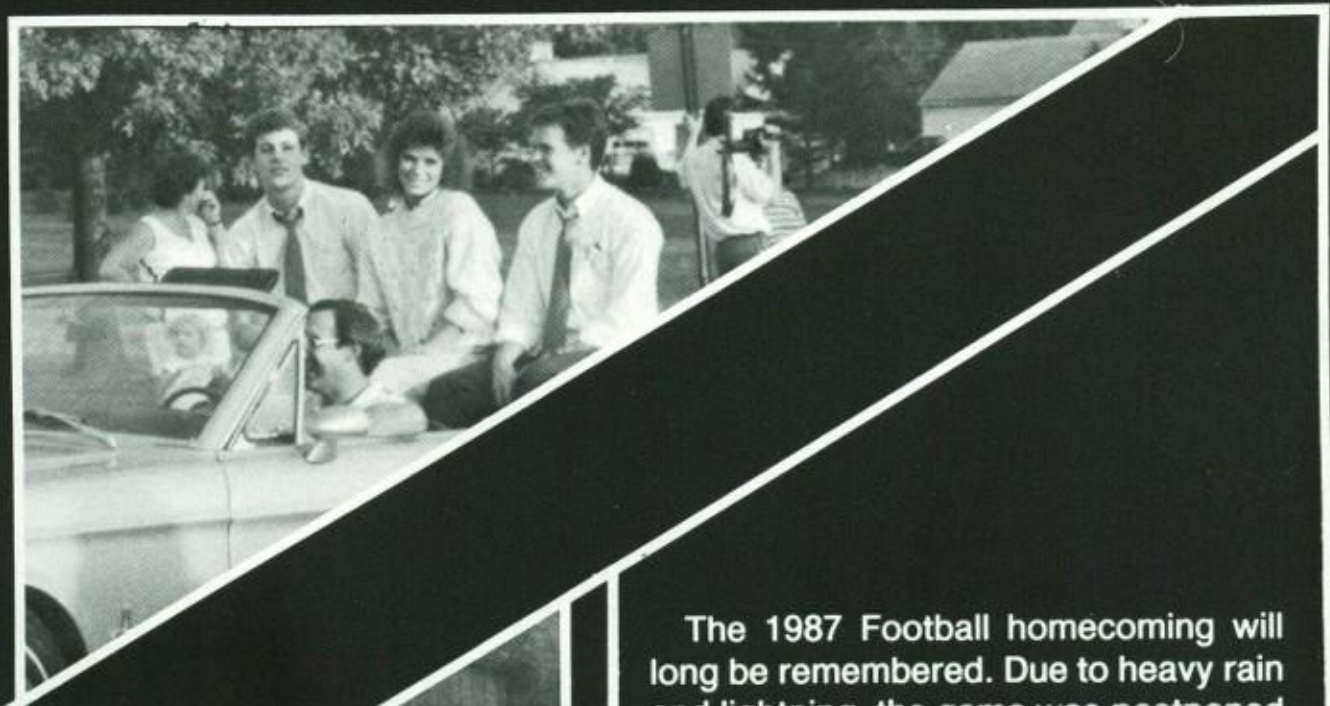
The Winning Float





The 1987 Football homecoming will long be remembered. Due to heavy rain and lightning, the game was postponed from Friday to Saturday night. The girls were forced to endure, not only the anxiety of Friday night, but the added stress from the delay. For Phyllis Soller, however, the gloom and delay will hardly be remembered in context of her crowning followed by the Monarch victory.

Senior Class Play

"A Night of One Acts"

The Senior Class decided to do something different this year. Rather than performing one play, they performed 3 one-act plays. Mrs. Tami Speicher assumed the responsibility of director and did an outstanding job.

The first play performed was "The Haunted Clothesline," a modern comical version of Romeo and Juliet. The Monahans and Carlms' had been feuding for many years and one night the ghost of Romeo appeared, casting a spell on the clothesline and whoever touched it was captured until the families' feuds were resolved.

The second play performed was "Beany's Private Eye." The action centered around a boy who wishes to be a detective, with the help of his friend. But, everything he does seems to get him into trouble with his mother, father, sister, and sister's boyfriend. He finally decides that detective work isn't for him and switches from suspect watching to girl-watching.

The evening ended with "Turkey Turns the Table." Three brothers and sisters left alone with a foreign house guest begin to suspect that murders within the community are the doings of their guest, Turkey. Only after harassing Turkey do they find he was planning a surprise Thanksgiving dinner.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

The Year in Review
"Do You Remember — 1987?"

M.H.S. goes on and on, day after day, year after year with the important events making news among the student body. Several years later we will still be able to remember our Homecoming queen, our Favorite Teacher, our Best Friend. But will we be able to remember some of The Major News events of the year? The year started with Mrs. Reagan announcing her "War on Drugs" which was brought to our attention because of the death of Len Bias. (1) Do you remember The U. of Maryland Basketball Star who was drafted by The Boston Celtics but died of cocaine one week later? Will his death make a difference in the years to come? Do you remember when The Ferry, The Herald of Free Enterprise sunk? Someone left the main doors open and in came the water and down went The Ferry (2) Pictured here on The Way To The Bottom. Do you remember The big news of early 1987 — The return of The America's Cup? (3) Dennis Conner sailed his Stars & Stripes to victory over The Australian Champion Kiwi II. Wall Street was shaken when Ivan Boesky (4) was caught getting unfair tips on stocks that encouraged an artificial price and caused a drastic decline in The Market.

Insider Trading
Wall St. rumbles as brokers take unfair advantage of many investors due to the brokers advantageous position.

But without a doubt the biggest news of the year centered around President Reagan. First he met the new Russian Premier Gorbachev at the Iceland Summit that was designed to encourage Arms Reduction (5) and then he imposed Trade Sanctions against Japan (6) when the Japanese flooded The Electronic Industry. The world of politics did have a brighter side as democracy returned to The Phillipines and Corayan Aquino (7) was elected President. Do you remember?

Apartheid became a household word as Bishop Desmond Tutu (8) worked to end the practice in South Africa. Do you remember the debates about American industries pulling out of that country? Were you for or against?

And were you for or against the policy of surrogate motherhood (9)? The "Baby M" case brought the whole practice to the public's attention. And if you were a teenager in 1987, you were probably one of the million that saw Huey Lewis (1) and the News on their North American Tour or one of the 1½ million that brought their newest album "Fore."

On the lighter side the affairs of Jim and Tammy Baker (11) who had been the leaders of the T.V. Evangelist club called P.T.L. and the escapades of Presidential hopeful Gary Hart (12). Both had public affairs and both lost public support. Do you remember? And there was Howard Baker (13) who became the White House Chief of Staff after Donald Regan, his predecessor, learned you don't argue with Nancy. Ben Linden (14) became the first American killed in Nicaragua which brought on the investigation that newsmen labeled "The Contra Affair."

All of these events may fade from memory but who could ever forget the passing of Ohio State coach Woody Hayes (15)? The man who became a legend in his own time. Do you remember?

12

13

The memories of Woody Hayes, in his victories and his defeats, filled Ohio Stadium, during a public memorial service — As one whose leadership will long be remembered for its charity and strength.

"Mighty Monarchs Bounce Back"

The Monarch football team posted a 5-5 record against opponents that composed one of the most difficult schedules in years. After losing the opening game to Kenton Ridge, Marysville rebounded to defeat Delaware Hayes 10-7 in overtime. The next two weeks saw the Monarchs lose two games in the 4th quarter. Whitehall broke open a game Marysville had controlled for 3 quarters to win 24-7 and Academy hit a 4th and 12 pass for a 50 yard touchdown late in the 4th for the 21-14 Academy win. The following week, the Monarchs dominated Homecoming opponents by posting a 19-14 victory over West Jeff with two 4th quarter touchdowns. The next week, Marysville found the ankle deep mud on the field and 4 inches of water along the sidelines to their liking as Big Walnut was held to a total offense of a negative 23 yards and no first downs in an 11-0 Monarch victory. Dublin defeated the Monarchs the next week 7-2 in a defensive struggle. The following week saw Marysville drop a 17-7 decision to London. With the record at 3-5 for the season and 2-3 in the league, Marysville defeated Buckeye Valley at home 9-7 and then travelled to Bexley to finish the season against the league champions who were undefeated in the league until Marysville defeated them in a tough defensive game.

CHEERLEADING . . .

"The Sport of Support"

The MHS cheerleaders have been very active and successful this year. The Varsity Cheerleaders attended UCA camp this year winning pom-pon and cheer competitions. They were also voted most spirited squad at camp. Furthermore, the Varsity competed at the Ohio State Fair receiving first runner-up awards. The JV attended ECA cheerleading camp receiving superior awards. Both squads attended state competition in Dublin. Varsity received 6th in pom-pon competition and JV received 7th in cheer. The cheerleaders held two outdoor pep rallies this year, making the 1986 football season fun-tastic.

VOLLEYBALL

"We Can Because We Think We Can"

The Lady Monarchs started off slowly at 2-6 before rallying to finish 2nd in the Division behind Bexley. One of the most exciting matches was at Olentangy where the Monarchs dropped the first game 13 to 15, but with hustle and teamwork 15-11 and 15-10 in the final games. Going AAA this fall they drew Bishop Hartley in tournament play, another exciting match which Coach Norris felt should have been won. We lost the serve in the third game with us up 14-13 and we never got it back.

BOY'S BASKETBALL

Season of Excitement

The 1986-87 Marysville basketball team completed one of the most successful seasons in recent history. Their 12-9 record was the best for a Monarch squad since 1976-77. The team was comprised of seven seniors, seven returning lettermen, and two new players who transferred from other schools. Expectations were high and the team worked hard to achieve victory.

The season started with a heartbreaking loss (61-59) to Jonathon Alder. Followed by a nightmarish performance at Delaware, the Monarchs struggled to find themselves going 2-5 into Christmas break. Then things began to fall into place. They put together a great performance in a 64-63 win against Bexley. In one of the most dramatic finishes, (one second was put back on the clock), Chris Schimmel threw a full court pass to Tony Fuller who banked in a shot at the buzzer. The win was only the start of three straight one-point victories.

In any season the Fairbanks game is a contest in which pride is the most important goal. This year was an exceptional game. Marked by the stream of toilet paper to start the game the crowd which filled the gym became emotionally involved. Both teams played their hearts out as Marysville prevailed in a 64-56 overtime win. Success followed as the Monarchs finished the season, highlighted by Jon Neely's climb to second place in the all time scoring ranks.

The Monarchs were a group which faced adversity in the early going, but found a way to overcome their hard times and have a great year. Congratulations to one of the best Marysville basketball teams in recent years.

Cheerleaders . . .

The Spirit of Our School.

Many long hours are spent practicing in front of that old trophy case every week. Sidelines, floor cheers, hello cheers, good luck cheers, and routines must be reviewed and perfected again and again. New cheers must be patiently taught and old cheers must remain in memory. Daily signs of upcoming games for girls and boys basketball and wrestling must be painted and hung. Weekly locker decs must be made and hung. New ideas for pep rallies and homecoming must be originated. To sum it up, cheerleaders must have a great deal of patience, confidence, obligation, understanding, a willingness to cooperate, creative minds, and athletic skill.

The Varsity Monarch Baseball Team enjoyed one of their more successful seasons in recent years as they were Champions of the Buckeye Division of the C.B.L. The Monarchs were 17-8 for all games and their 11-5 league record was two games better than runner-up Dublin's 9-7 league record. This seasons success can be attributed in large part to a very potent offense which produced an average of 7.7 runs per game for the 25 game season. The .311 team batting average and 191 runs scored were the highest offensive totals for the past 8-10 years. Dennis Gallogly (.448), Mark Clarridge (.413), Chris Schimmel (.381), and Eric Howard (.364) were the top hitters on this year's squad. Dennis led the team in hits (39), home runs (4), game winning hits (4), on base percentage (.577), and was second in RBI's with 28. Mark led the team in doubles (10), triples (5), RBI's (29), walks (19), and lowest strike out average (4 in 100 plate appearances). Chris led the team in runs scored (29), being hit by the pitcher (4), and was second in stolen bases (16). Jim Schneider led the team in stolen bases with 19. Eric Howard was the top pitcher with a 6-1 record and Rob Horney contributed heavily to our success with a 4-4 record and 5 saves. Defense was also a strong point with Sean Hall having the highest fielding average among infielders (.943), Mark Clarridge among pitchers and catchers (.983), and Chris Schimmel among outfielders and first basemen (.952).

Numerous fundraisers, such as Halloween ghosts and Christmas poinsettias raised extra money for trips, and volunteer work such as helping in the Christmas Clearinghouse and Senior Citizens Craft show, continued the respected NHS reputation.

This year, NHS attended the "Nutcracker," a Ballet Met production of a young girl whose Christmas nutcracker creates her dreams of fantastical events. In the spring NHS, including new members, traveled to the Palace theatre, after eating breakfast at Bob Evans, and viewed the opera "Porgy and Bess," a story of a young woman and her crippled lover who struggles to live with her happily ever after.

The Mentor Program

The Career Mentorship Program is an innovative programming option for students in the Marysville School District's Able Learners Program. Students are provided with an opportunity to explore the world of work with successful professionals, business people and community leaders. The mentors act as career advisors, while providing students with on the job experience. For a 9-week period, seniors worked with community professionals in the career and interests fields the student wished to pursue. Afterwards, a written composition and journal kept continually throughout the experience are submitted for a final grade. This program was highly successful and will continue as a beneficial program for upcoming seniors.

ENGLISH

THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

In 1987 the English department was again hard at work helping students to become skilled in all the language arts. These skills are the foundation for learning in all fields of study. A particularly exciting help to students is the Reading Laboratory, which assists students at all levels of reading to improve their skills.

Our year was enriched by several unusual additions. The speech class worked with visiting artist Robert Post to learn pantomime and juggling, presenting their skills to parents in an evening performance. In early March Mr. Shakespeare, in appropriate costume, visited many English classes to discuss life in Elizabethan times and to present readings from the plays. Mrs. Biehl's Advanced Comp. classes went to Ohio Wesleyan to learn the workings of a college library. The juniors honors class, in conjunction with the American history honors class, took a joint field trip and did a cooperative research project.

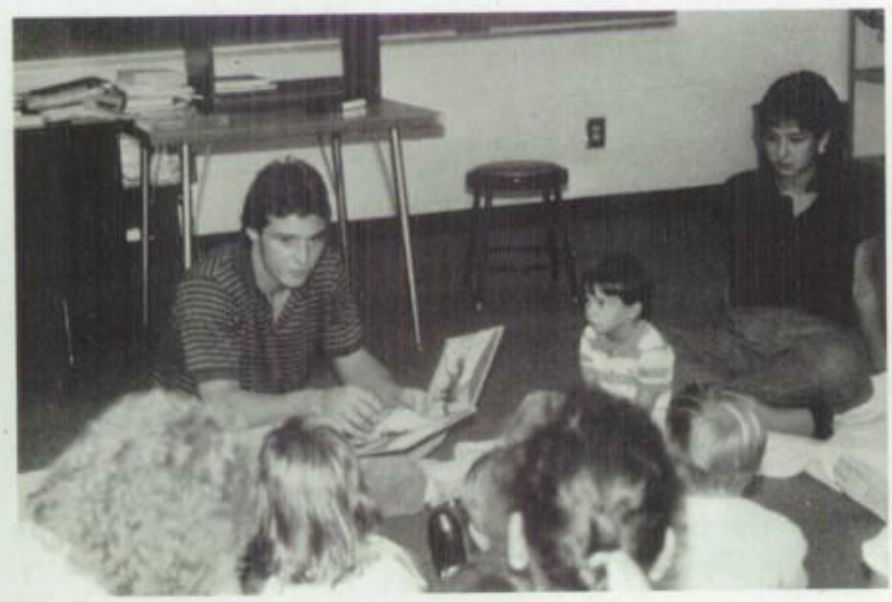
The Breakfast Club



Once upon a time . . .

In the Know

In the first full year of In the Know a dedicated group of students went all out in their search for that elusive question that just might come up at the next match. Our dedication paid off in matches with area schools (London, Jonathon Alder, Madison Plains, Delaware) and in tournaments at London and Kenton in which fourteen central Ohio schools participated. Team members revealed surprising areas of knowledge: Lora Lewis was our outstanding religion and mythology expert; Rachel Snook scored on TV, movies and yes, Ivanhoe and Gone With the Wind (''Good for at least one question every competition, Rachel!'' Todd Miller proved that he is a whiz on military and U.S. history; Marty Rausch is a math and science person and (the truth is out!) knows an amazing amount about sports. Dan Davis will take a shot at just about anything, and comes up right an astonishing number of times; it's his bloopers we all really wait for though. Sean Thompson and Bill Baldwin claim they are strickly into Science and Math. ''Another science question, p-l-e-a-s-e?'' and Jon Price covered Art and photography questions (''Bet you never forget what a Fresco is, Jon!'' Mary Geopfert participated until time pressures caught up with her. One of the highlights of the year was the 1st Annual Teachers vs. Students Challenge Competition. On this memorable occasion Mrs. Liggett, Mrs. Nicely, Mr. Junker, and Mr. McCartney matched wits, successfully as it turned out, with members of the team. Watch out though, teachers, revenge is sweet!

Advisors for the team, and therefore entitled to the best seats and all of the heat in the van, were Mrs. Skidmore and Mrs. Patton.

This year the Catseye magazine marked the end of an era — the final year of helpful assistance by Mrs. Anne Skidmore. For students to become members of the Catseye staff, they have to submit at least 3 entries of poetry, photography, drawing, painting, or prose, for publication. In addition to staff members working on entries for the magazine, they were also involved in the Valentine's Day Carnation Sale to raise funds for publication.

There has always been a tradition of decorating Mrs. Cary's room on April Fool's Day. Even though school was cancelled on March 31 the dedicated senior math students came in on their day off to continue the tradition. The theme was "Barnyard," completely changing her room from orderly desks to bales of straw, barn siding and tractors. To surprise Mrs. Cary as she arrived at school these enterprising seniors found a tractor and wagon and parked them in her usual parking spot. To fit the theme for the day Mrs. Cary was given an honorary Select Sires cap and flannel shirt.

DEBATE

The Marysville Debate Team got off to a rough start but ended with a winning season as Senior and fourth year debater, Dawn Smith, accepted the roll of leadership and cajoled her teammates to victory. Paired with sophomore, Chris Timmons, through most of the year, the team began the season at the St. Francis tournament with a 2 win-4 loss record to rank them among the also-rans of the league. Gradually, with the help of former debater, Ray Irwin, they improved their record week by week until by district time The Marysville Duo had become one of the teams to be feared and Dawn Smith had become the best female debater in the State.

The Novice Team of Pat Barnett, Damon Bingman, Ryan Lee and Darren Smith showed great promise throughout the year by placing among the top 3 Novice Teams in every tournament they entered. In the spring of the year they were semi-finalists at the State Novice Tournament. Now it's on to better things.

OHIO HI-POINT

Each year several M.H.S. students attend class at Ohio Hi-Point Vocational School located near Bellefontaine. This year 126 students attended Hi-Point in many different classes ranging from secretarial Skills to Auto Repair, from Child Care to Electricity. In Graphic Arts students are exposed to all facets of printing and engraving. In Home Building students build a house while learning construction, plumbing, and electricity. While the construction trades and auto repair are popular with the boys, cosmetology, child care, and secretarial courses tend to be popular with the girls. Pictured on these pages are some of the students who attended Hi-Point.

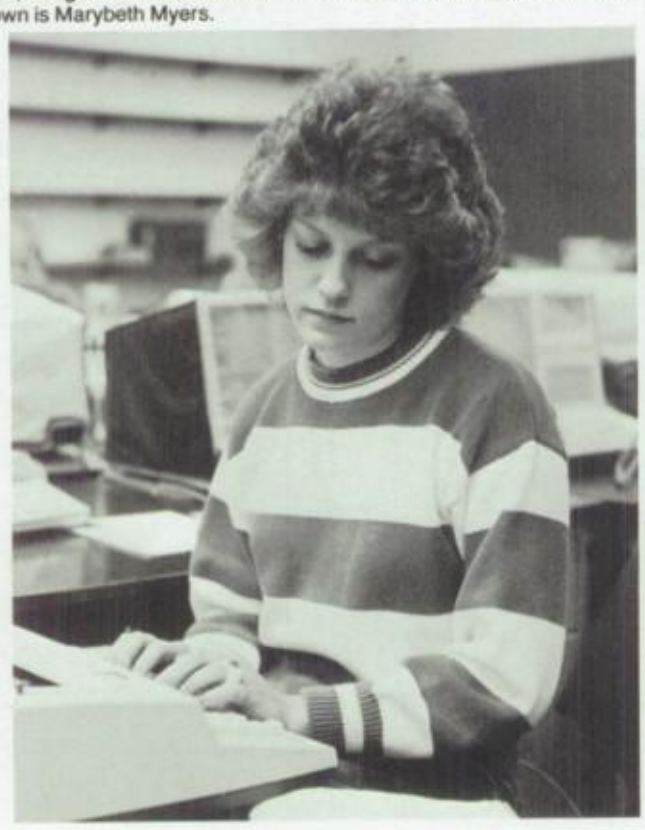
The 1986-87 Senior Block has been very challenging, educational and rewarding. Besides advancing in their business education, this senior class learned more about relationships in the office, and how to relate, get along and enjoy their job, in their future office careers. They learned how to prepare a resume, what to say and do in an interview, and what to wear in a proper office related job.

To teach all of this valuable information one has to be a kind of teacher who knows what they're talking about and has been in these office situations before. This teacher that is being described is a lady by the name of Ms. Linda Overly, a teacher who has been there before and knows all the ropes.



SENIOR IOE

"I hope I don't have to do this again."

This year the junior steno and clerical block classes learned to work together successfully, this is just one of the things these future office workers need to succeed in a business-related job. To help these future office workers, there are teachers and friends, such as Mrs. Judy Ohnsman, Teaching junior steno, Typing, plus there is Ms. Nancy Carlson, teaching junior clerical, typing. These students learn to file documents, and operate office machines, plus concure accounting skills properly.

Mr. Harold Niehaus — Vo Ag I, II

Mr. John Carl — Vo Ag III, IV, Ag. Business

Students in vocational agriculture studied many different areas in the agriculture field. The Freshman and Sophomore classes learned to properly care for many different species of animals, work on small engines and wire electrical circuits. Learning was extended beyond the classroom through field trips to cattle farms, sheep farms, and the Farm Science Review. Many of the students completed wood and metal shop projects which they will exhibit at the Union County and State Fair.

The Junior and Senior Vocational Agriculture classes studied many practices that apply to both farm management and Ag. Business, focusing on the production of crops, animal science, as well as finances involved in running a farm. Field trips to the County Auditor, area horse farms and hands-on experiences on the 48 acre school farm all helped to further emphasize important principles in agriculture. The Ag-Business class, learned to make resumes, apply for jobs, do accounting and various phases of task management.

Marching Monarchs

After a long week of marching, memorizing music, and rehearsing for the upcoming season, the Marching Monarchs were prepared to have the best season ever. The band showed their marching abilities at the All-Ohio Balloon Rally Parade. The band then joined the North Union and Fairbanks' bands and played a short concert at the airport. Just a week later the band was off to Delaware to march in the Little Brown Jug Parade. The band was on the go again to the Hilliard Band Festival. They enjoyed watching numerous other bands displaying their creative moves. After a rest from all the events, the band traveled to their favorite parade — Circleville Pumpkin Show! To finalize the year, the seniors of the band selected the music, wrote the drills and sequences of the show, and taught the steps to the band for their final home performance of their career.

This year the juniors enjoyed working on the football-homecoming float with the theme Walt Disney. As spring rolled in, long hours and extremely hard worked paid off when the prom "Motion Pictures" was a success. The juniors would like to thank the ever-so talented Mr. Kreis and Mr. Neihaus, the supervisor, for making it the best prom ever!

SOPHOMORES

With our first year of high school behind us, we entered our sophomore year with great expectations and the goal to make the sophomore class recognized as the best of all the M.H.S. classes. Things started off well as several class members got together to construct a float for homecoming at M.H.S. Everyone should remember the "Fly to Victory" theme with Dumbo soaring over the hopeless foe.

Enthusiasm and class spirit continued as the sophomores tackled a series of projects designed to increase the treasury for the prom of 1988.

Sophomores definitely led the way in school spirit when the class sponsored Spirit Week during basketball season. First we had everyone who wanted to show their school spirit wear their clothes backwards. Next the enthusiastic sophomores had clash day where all clothes had to clash — the wilder the better. Finally, the week ended with a traditional Red and Blue day to show the spirit that spreads through the halls of M.H.S.

All in all the sophomores planted the seed of success for a future that is full of promise.

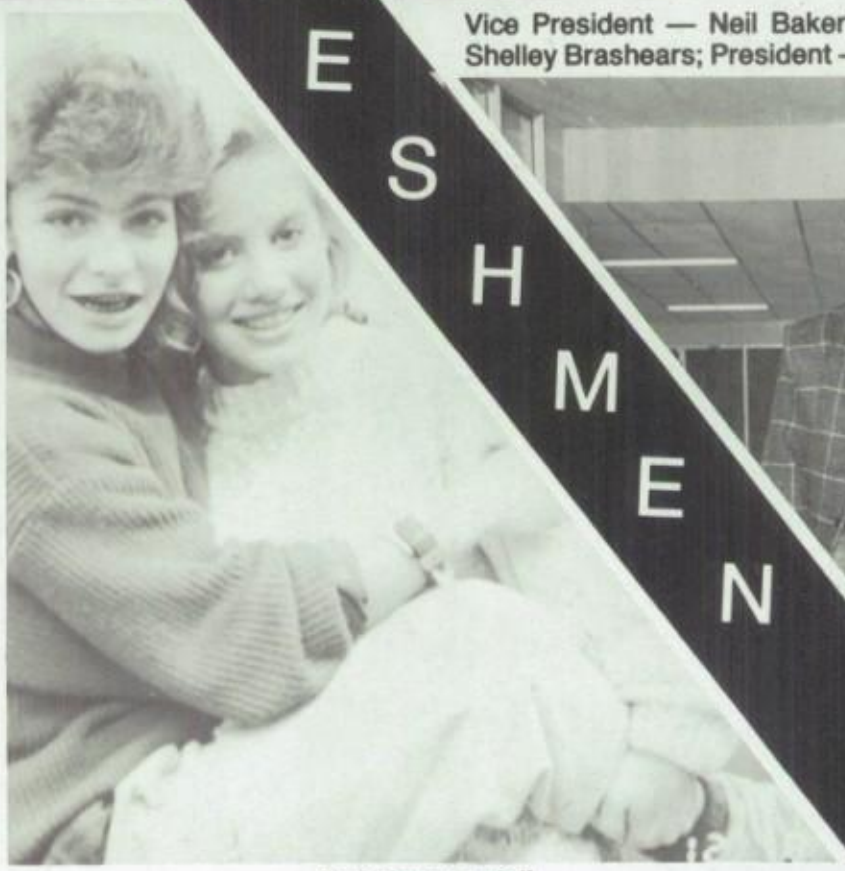
A Year of Striving for Goals

This years freshmen started out with high spirits, nervousness and many goals to strive for. Their first goal was to build the best homecoming float, and with a lot of hard work and fun they won the first place trophy. The next goal on their list was money raiser for their Junior Prom in 1989; they raised over $2000 by selling candy.

The class of '90 looks forward to three more successful years of high school; hoping and knowing that they will be as good as their first.



Isn't that special!

YEARBOOK STAFF

To put a yearbook together takes a lot of work and dedication. I feel we've put together one of the best yearbooks MHS has had due to our excellent staff!

There were many changes in this yearbook: color on opening pages, a new current events section, more action photos throughout the book, unity among the sports' sections, plus many other changes. Hopefully, these changes are to your liking as we tried to capture what makes high school so exciting: friendships, pep rallies, Homecomings, Halloween, Prom, Graduation, etc.

As you leaf through this book, we trust you will "Never Say Goodbye" to the memories collected on these pages.

Phyllis Soller
1986-87 Editor
